

WHAT IF

And if in the end it was different and light years away from your plans
What would there be left to remind them of you Tell me what is left to remain

So what is my little world made of and how do I measure its worth this big dream whose air I am breathing Way high up or just down to earth?

*1998
( April )*