

SEASONS II – AUTUMN

The leaves are falling down again, the faces do look bored.
The suicide-rates rise again, storm's rising at the shores.
There are no pills left in the stores, people are in a bad state of health.
To relax a bit, I wanted Jacki tonight, but she just killed herself.

Refrain:

For it is autumn again. It's getting colder all around.
It is autumn again. And green turns into brown.

The rain is pouring on the nerves, aggression's rising up.
the frost turns loving into hatred, a storm is coming up.
For it is autumn again.

Me, I got a cold again, my clothes are all wet.
It's torture to look in a mirror, or to get out of bed.
Nobody seems to recognize that I feel that bad.
They just think about their own, little dirty problems or they're already dead.

Refrain

Rain is pouring down on me and seems to drive me mad.
I am wet all over, I am, freezing and I'm sad,
for it is autumn again.
