

STREET

When you are lonely and you just can't sleep in the middle of the night And when you stare inside the mirrors face till the sun is finally up Where are you now and where did you want to be why do you never make it there?
Is everything good just a memory fading away

Bridge:

When you are sad and desperate no way out and everything just hurts
You just don't recognize that mirrors face that ugly and small

Refrain:

Run into the dark and look up to those stars so many there to see lights, light years away you cannot touch But they're for you to see Somebody out There's just waiting for you you just have to go on Open up your eyes and don't you just give up
I can understand..
